

If one byte of the message changes, the hash changes and verification fails